

SKIP - a school holiday adventure

ExpressWay Arts, a pilot project of Carclew Youth Arts, will be presenting its first major performance and workshop series in Adelaide's southern suburbs during the October school holidays.

SKIP, created by One Point 618 dance theatre company, is a fun and creative dance theatre piece about the adventure of two kooky animated characters who come across a pair of exquisite new sneakers. Their creativity and imaginations run wild as the sneakers lead them on an athletic whirlwind journey of discovery.

Children can also put themselves on centre stage with the performers at a one-hour interactive workshop after each show.

Katrina Lazaroff, ExpressWay Arts creative producer, said "SKIP is the perfect opportunity for families and children to enjoy a high energy performance these school holidays. The SKIP story promotes healthy and active lifestyle choices and encourages the audience to follow their natural curiosity in seeking out new information and experiences."

All tickets are $7.70 + booking fee through Venuetix www.venuetix.com.au or 8225 8888. Tickets will also be available at the door (subject to availability).

ExpressWay Arts is program of youth performing arts activity that will open creative opportunities for children and young people and career pathways for young South Australian performers in the southern suburbs.

One Point 618, a South Australian dance theatre and education company, fosters creativity and artistic excellence in dance, delivering innovative, accessible performances and educational programs for all ages.
