Carclew hosts SALA exhibitions

Carclew Youth Arts is hosting two SALA Festival exhibitions featuring works by emerging South Australian artists Katia Carletti, Jayson Fox and Carly Snoswell.

The exhibitions – titled The Dance of the Dunce and Habit – both open on Saturday, August 3.

The Dance of the Dunce, showcasing works by artist Jayson Fox, is being presented by Carclew's resident emerging curator Jemimah Davis in the Carclew Foyer Gallery.

"Jayson's work in The Dance of the Dunce is narratively driven, depicting what it means to be a social rogue, a miscreant, an uncouth youth or a street urchin," said Jemimah.

"The body of work includes over 20 pieces, across the mediums of ceramics, painting, print and animation projection."

Habit is the work of Carclew resident artists Katia Carletti and Carly Snoswell and will be exhibited in the Carclew Ballroom Gallery.

"As the current resident artists at Carclew, Katia and I thought it was fitting to present a joint SALA exhibition in the Carclew Ballroom Gallery," said Carly.

"Habit explores concepts surrounding the home and the objects, images and rituals that occupy this space. The exhibition presents a diverse collection of work across a range of mediums including cable ties, stoneware, string, oil on board and found objects."
